Architects Lead In New Home Developments
The American Institute of Architects have, at national and local levels, through cooperation with building organizations and real estate boards, been constantly striving to provide leadership in new home developments. Robert Dietz, public information chairman of the American Institute of Architects, Washington Chapter, constant research, planning, use of new techniques in construction, and new materials are today affording the average home owner far more conveniences and comforts than ever before experienced. Tomorrow will see even greater developments.
New planning approaches, alternative projects, large comprehensive environment that will make home ownership something to be proud of, with compensations never before envisioned.
The Northwest architect has and will continue to provide this leadership in order that the home owner may profit from his experience, Dietz declared. "Architecturally speaking, the Northwest home is considered one of the outstanding in the nation. It is the intention of members of the Washington Chapter of the A. I. A. to keep it that way."

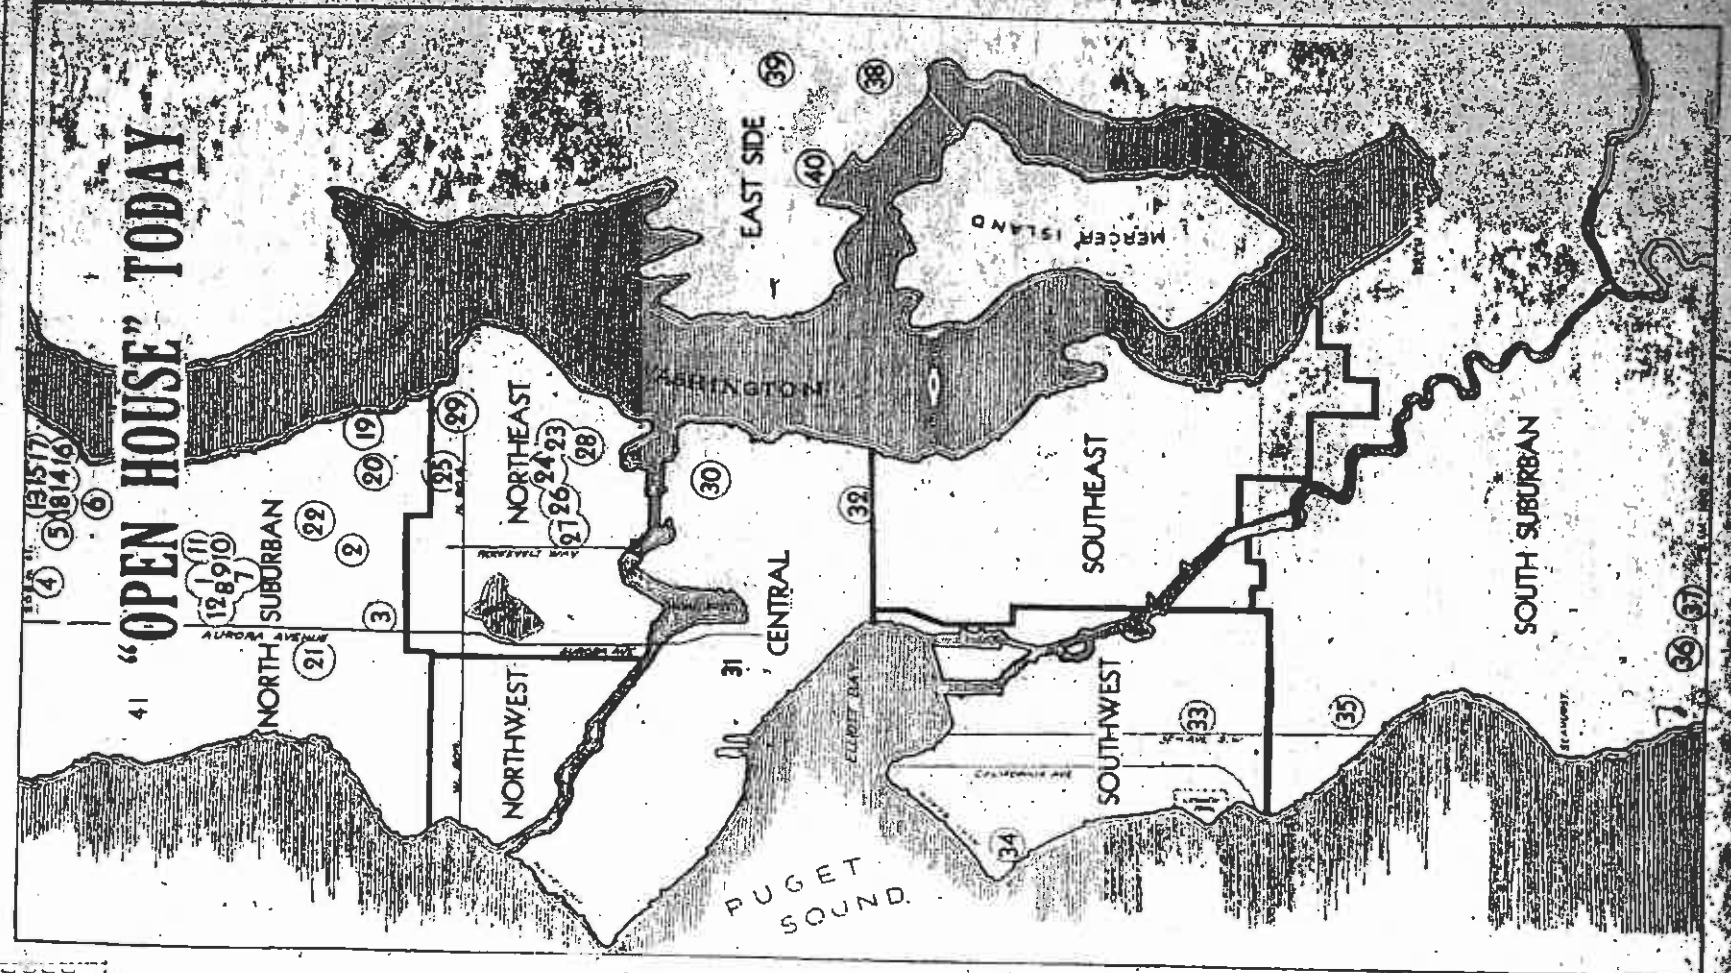

BERNHARD DAHL
The Seattle Home Builders Association—comprising a group of men with years of experience in the building field, offers a home building information service available to more than a thousand home owners at any time. Members of this organization are selected only after a qualifying as to craftsmanship and financial responsibility.
"Since the organization was founded, it has had for a goal perfection in home construction and maximum productivity which is borne out by the fact that its members will have completed during the year. It has fought vigorously for a state licensing law for contractors, tables and other food that protect the consumer water as a first step.

Water Needed
The clean-up center provides cabinets to hold towels and better cleansing materials, kettle, water pitcher, diled fruits and vegetables and other food that require the clean-up center.
Additional members include: A. Fred Gaging, Robert R. Carlson, Rex E. Gill, W. W. Gordon, Halter, Lake Construction Co., D. B. Harmon, David Farnsworth, August Jackson, Construction Co., Gordon C. Johnson, Thomas Jacob, Kiehlbaugh, Neil Nyberg, L. Paulson, Charles Reisdorf, Jr., Lester C. Savage, Seelye, Inc., L. I. Selin, Clyde Shelton, Eric A. Sporlander, John H. Swain, M. Thornberg Construction Co., V. M. Construction Co., A. A. Walker, A. C. Webb & Co., Alford Zennan.

Reasons For Unparalleled Buying Wave
With current production at well over a million homes per year, the National Association of Home Builders has studied the reasons for the unparalleled buying wave. They found the major reasons to be:
1. Demand, stimulated by unrelenting competition during the war years.
2. New materials, derived at a rate of about 200% per year.
3. Disappearance of the "rental" houses in residential areas.
4. Greater buying power, resulting from higher wages.
5. New home-see better built, better equipped, easily purchased under the most liberal financing plans ever offered.

Easy Financing Boosts Market Says Eastman

Frank W. Eastman, Executive Vice President of the National Builders' Association, says that the easy financing available to home owners is the main reason for the recent boom in the housing market. He points out that the Federal Housing Administration's new 30-year mortgage program has made it possible for many more people to buy homes. Eastman also notes that the construction industry is now in a position to build more homes than ever before, and that this is a good thing for the country as a whole.

Nation's Progress In Home Insurance Important To Home Owners

The National Fire Insurance Association reports that the number of home insurance policies in force in the United States has increased by more than 50 percent in the last five years. This is due to the fact that more and more people are realizing the importance of protecting their homes against fire. The association also notes that the cost of home insurance has decreased significantly in recent years, making it more affordable for the average homeowner.

Home Insurance Important To Home Owners

Home insurance is one of the most important ways to protect your investment in a home. It covers the cost of damage to the structure of the house, as well as the contents of the home. Without home insurance, a single fire could wipe out a family's savings. Therefore, it is essential for every homeowner to have a comprehensive home insurance policy.

Home Insurance Important To Home Owners

Home insurance is a critical component of a homeowner's financial plan. It provides peace of mind by protecting against the risk of fire, theft, and other disasters. Homeowners should carefully review their policies to ensure they have the coverage they need for their specific needs and budget.

91,912 Home Loans Insured In One Year
 The Federal Housing Administration recently reported that it has insured 91,912 home loans in the past year. This is a significant increase from the previous year, indicating a strong demand for home financing. The FHA's new 30-year mortgage program is a major factor in this growth.

Double-Glazed Glass Reduces Heating Cost
 Double-glazed glass windows and doors can significantly reduce a home's heating costs. The extra layer of glass creates an insulating barrier that keeps the heat inside the house during the winter months. This is a cost-effective way to improve energy efficiency and reduce utility bills.

Build and Beauty
 Graystone Masonry products are designed to enhance the appearance of your home. From decorative window sills to elegant door surrounds, these products add a touch of classic beauty to any exterior. They are made from high-quality materials and are easy to install.

Novel Plans Shown in West Seattle

The new plans shown in West Seattle are a departure from the conventional type of house. They are a result of the work of the architect, John S. Stephens, and his partner, Arthur H. Lyman. The plans are for a house of 2,159 square feet, located at 3159 Beach Drive, West Seattle. The house is a two-story structure with a modern design. It features a large living room with a fireplace, a dining room, a kitchen, and two bedrooms. The house is built on a slight rise and has a view of the water. The plans are available for $100.00.

Contemporary styling is the keynote of today's open houses located at 3159 Beach Drive, West Seattle. Architects John S. Stephens and Arthur H. Lyman have worked together to provide a house that will fit in place as an outstanding example of new ideas in residential design, a feature of National Home Week. Open house hours today only will be from noon to 6 p. m.

Paneling With Fir Plywood Is Popular

Paneling with fir plywood is becoming increasingly popular in homes throughout the country. This is due to the fact that it is a durable, fire-resistant material which gives a room a warm, cozy atmosphere. It is also easy to install and maintain. Fir plywood is made from the best quality fir logs, which are cut into thin slices and then pressed together under heat and pressure. This process creates a strong, uniform material that is resistant to warping, cracking, and insect damage. It is also fire-resistant, making it a safe choice for home paneling. The natural grain of the fir wood is visible through the plywood, giving it a beautiful, rustic appearance. It is available in a variety of thicknesses and finishes, making it suitable for a wide range of interior decorating styles. Whether you are looking for a traditional, country-style look or a more modern, minimalist aesthetic, fir plywood paneling is a versatile and popular choice for homeowners.

Basement No Longer Required

Longer Required. This is the latest in modern home building. The basement is no longer required. The new design has been developed by architects and builders who have found that a full basement is not only unnecessary but also a waste of money. The new design features a full living area on the first floor, a full kitchen, and a full bathroom. The living area is large and bright, with plenty of windows. The kitchen is modern and well-equipped. The bathroom is spacious and comfortable. The overall design is clean, simple, and functional. It is a perfect example of modern home building that is both practical and stylish.

CROSS FROM THE MONARCH ON FOURTH AT OLIVEWAY

Paneling with fir plywood is becoming increasingly popular in homes throughout the country. This is due to the fact that it is a durable, fire-resistant material which gives a room a warm, cozy atmosphere. It is also easy to install and maintain. Fir plywood is made from the best quality fir logs, which are cut into thin slices and then pressed together under heat and pressure. This process creates a strong, uniform material that is resistant to warping, cracking, and insect damage. It is also fire-resistant, making it a safe choice for home paneling. The natural grain of the fir wood is visible through the plywood, giving it a beautiful, rustic appearance. It is available in a variety of thicknesses and finishes, making it suitable for a wide range of interior decorating styles. Whether you are looking for a traditional, country-style look or a more modern, minimalist aesthetic, fir plywood paneling is a versatile and popular choice for homeowners.

Coloyle Tyle-Bord is not a substitute, or an imitation of any material. It is a unique product designed, engineered and developed to provide solid, permanent, one-piece, impervious walls and ceilings. It has been tested and proved by more than 15 years of usage in homes and industry. Coloyle has never been successfully imitated. Make certain that you get only genuine Coloyle-Tyle-Bord.

SEE Coloyle TYLE-BORD

Look for these practical, attractive Coloyle Tyle-Bord bedrooms and kitchens. No better or more practical material can be chosen for walls that are constantly subjected to the splashing of soap and water, and to cooking vapors, etc. No cracked plaster or leaking joints and seams with Coloyle Tyle-Bord one-piece panels set in fireable, sealed concrete and joints. Expansion and movement can take place without leakage at the house ages and settles. Coloyle Tyle-Bord remains neat, clean and sanitary.

Is What
It Means
TO THE COMMUNITY

It means more and finer homes, employment for its citizens, and security in The American Way of Life that is rooted in Home Ownership.

TO THE MAN WITH A FAMILY
It means an exceptional opportunity to protect the future security of his family by the wise selection of a home best suited to his family needs.

TO THE REAL ESTATE MAN
It means greater opportunity to sell vacant lots for his clients, and to sell or rent the homes his clients have built.

TO THE MAN WHO LANDSCAPES
It means an opportunity to sell his artistry of flowers, lawns, shrubs, etc., for a more pleasant and beautiful home for his customers.

TO THE BUILDER OF HOMES
It means an opportunity to sell—release his capital for purchase of materials, need to continue employment of his carpenters, bricklayers, painters, plasterers, etc.

TO THE BANKER AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS
It means an opportunity to finance the safe construction of homes, and to keep the savings of depositors at work.

TO THE MAN HANDLING BUILDING MATERIALS
It means a larger outlet for his sales, profit which for his employees, better business conditions generally, and an opportunity to expand and grow with the community he helps to build.

Lick Old Printed Word
Better TV, Radio Can't

By ROBERT C. RUARK
 have got to be written better on the radio. The old printed word is being licked by the radio and the television. The radio and the television are the new media, and they are changing the way we communicate. The old printed word is being replaced by the new media, and this is a good thing. The radio and the television are more immediate and more personal than the printed word. They are also more powerful and more effective. The radio and the television are the future of communication, and we should embrace them with open arms.

Architects, Builders Join
In Design for Ideal House

The first real action toward the design of an ideal house is being taken in Seattle. Architects and builders are joining forces to create a new standard for home design. This effort is being led by the National Association of Home Builders and the American Institute of Architects. They are working together to develop a set of guidelines for the design of ideal homes. These guidelines will take into account the needs of both the architect and the builder, as well as the needs of the homeowner. The result will be a set of plans that are both beautiful and practical, and that will set a new standard for home design.

Furniture Company
Opens New Wing

The Furniture Company has opened a new wing in its Seattle store. The new wing is located on the corner of Broadway and Pike streets, and is a modern and spacious addition to the store. It will house a wide variety of furniture, including living room furniture, dining room furniture, and bedroom furniture. The new wing is a testament to the company's commitment to quality and service, and it is sure to attract a large number of new customers.

20th Century Furnishings
Find New, Functional

Among Pacific Coast cities, Seattle is one of the most progressive. This is evident in the way the city's residents are embracing new and functional furniture. The 20th Century Furnishings store is a prime example of this trend. The store offers a wide variety of modern furniture, including living room furniture, dining room furniture, and bedroom furniture. The furniture is both beautiful and practical, and it is sure to appeal to a wide range of customers.
