

New Ideas in Open-Living Plan Featured in Bow Vista Development

OPEN HOUSE: Bow Vista, east of the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport, is a newly developed area of one-level homes that have been planned and constructed after considerable research by the architect and builder. Today's house designed by Durham, Anderson & Freed, architects.

Compact Plan Stressed In Building

Here is a new twist to the open living plan which breaks down the barrier between kitchen and family room into one large well-lighted activity area. Various furniture groupings define the activities but the

A. L. A. and built by Hobb & Nordeck Construction Co. Inc. will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. if is one of 25 houses in varying stages of construction. The house will be furnished by Grinnell's Southland Furniture Co. Interior and exterior color scheme planned by Gladwyn Morfison.

The living room, 14 by 15, from the living-dining area by feet, suggests furniture grouped open book shelves. In this way for conversation around the fireplace, yet each sectionals could be set at right angles to define a traffic lane from entry to other areas in the house.

The dining space is family-sized and can be extended into a breakfast room for family living. The car-charger at one end of the house forms an attractive planter for colorful flowers.

Street sliding glass doors open a full wall of cupboards above, wall and wardrobe wall. One of the entire room to the terrace. Throughout this open space, a soft and neutral tone of sand-colored mahogany is used for the trim.

Partisan Separates Area: A 6-foot partisan separates dining space. Mahogany cabinets make it a part of the open living area. Range and the refrigerator are set below the dining table. A window with sliding glass doors is placed above the built-in kitchen counter. The end wall is given to automatic laundry facilities with a full wall of cupboards above, wall and wardrobe wall. One of the entire room to the terrace. Throughout this open space, a soft and neutral tone of sand-colored mahogany is used for the trim.

The family bath backs up to the laundry with no there is no kitchen sink, laundry appliances are in the bathroom. The bath is built into a mahogany cabinet where bathroom accessories are handled stored.

Three bedrooms are arranged compactly, each with a window 188th Street.

University Librarian Constructs Attractive Dwelling 'From Book'

By ELIZABETH VILBERT EVANS

View Let Purchased In June, 1951, the Moxters bought a view lot, one that had been tied up in an estate settlement; they heard about it from another librarian who lived in the neighborhood and who himself subsequently sold them the adjoining lot.

Seattle Builder Well Known In National Housing Field
Guy Truax, builder, whose homes are a mixture of custom, semi-custom and conventional, is one of the city's youngest builders. For two years he has been on his own but before that he learned the builder's business.

Next came clearing of the lot, and the foundation and the need to plan for all the details of finishing. Moxter says, "I had a lot of fun doing this. I had a lot of fun doing this. I had a lot of fun doing this."

Curbs on Erosion
Concrete blocks, well placed, will banish ugly erosion and muddy walks. The blocks may be laid as a wall or may solve the problem of a sloping bank by neatly sitting on the bank by anchoring the blocks into the slope. No mortar is required for slope concrete.

What Moxter did from June to March is something to make a student details of heating, radiating everything available on radiators, and the various methods of installing the copper radiators, to say nothing of the wiring, the radiating floor-heating, the asphaltic floor-heating, the asphaltic floor-heating, the asphaltic floor-heating.

DO IT YOURSELF: A University of Washington reference librarian built this five-room home himself in his spare time on a quiet street at the edge of Laurelhurst. Books were his guide.

Books said, in effect, "We can do it better than the usual manual training classes in elementary school but he knew that library own home, landscape your lot and even help you provide field-identifying for your future."

happened counter space. Doors are sliding. On the opposite wall is the counter-top range and oven built into the brick wall of the fireplace. A copper hood and fan carry away cooking fumes and odors. Colors are neutral to enhance the Cherokee marble-granite on the cabinets.

Center Reception
 The family room—that round, unobscured spot for all the family—opens onto a bright terrace through glass doors. Walkers are parked in order and there is a corner brick fireplace with raised hearth. The floor is coconutoy brown cork. Automatic laundry appliances are set in one corner.

Think of the many activities for all the family... bedrooms, living and dining rooms are combined with the Swedish tile floor. The living room has an efficient U-shaped plan and opens wide into the family room. Side-hinged door to the terrace facing south makes indoor-outdoor living most enjoyable during pleasant weather.

One side of the family room is used for passageway to the large bedrooms and family bath and powder room. The main area of this property is an open quality. Landscaping and swimming pool are planned for the future.

The third house on the left of the acre is still in the construction period, giving you an opportunity to see the quality of building materials used. The plan is similar to square foot-age but the room arrangements are different.

Zeroed In Center
 The entrance hall is centrally placed with easy access to the living room, dining room, bedrooms, powder room, divided bath and utility room.

The long vestibule will be the living room, adjacent to the two-car garage, is planned solely for a large party. Living and dining rooms are combined. Family room has a large window facing the period park and a door opening onto the terrace.

Two of the three bedrooms have large closets. The bath is divided for family use and the powder room is adjacent to the entry for guest's use and near the family room for children. The three houses planned together include a feeling for fine relationship of house to site and adjoining property in all three quality materials used throughout, and a setting of lovely evergreens in a new community makes the houses a fine investment—both in casual, comfortable living and in security.

NORTH END MODEL: This house, situated in the Pine Hill District, is one of three H. K. Schroeder homes which will be opened to the public today. This model is known as The Gavel. All three Schroeder homes will be fully furnished. Schroeder has provided plenty of parking and he doesn't care whether visitors come day or night, just so they come. He has baby-sitters to take care of the children, and free pony rides and ice cream and "pop" to entertain them while their parents inspect the homes.

But also Bill Cody called his rifle "Lucetta Borzita."

BALCH 'CONTEMPORARY'

"THE LATEST DESIGN IN SPLIT-LEVEL HOME"

Here is a home which fairly "thrusts" with interesting new ideas. The home can be fitted with a large recreation room and two car garages. It was designed by Paul Kirk, A.I.A., using much of the latest in split-level design. The house is built with concrete and brick and the entire glass wall panels will provide for daylight in but keep vision out.

The house has been decorated for you by THE TROPIC SHOP, to show the latest in contemporary architecture may use contemporary furniture as the theme of the interior.

"Follow the Torch" to the tropical modern home, 2803 East 82nd. Call VE. 5555 or FI. 7900.

WESTINGHOUSE

Your Balch Built tour will show you, too, the latest in Westinghouse appliances. Handsome Westinghouse electric range, refrigerator, Laundromat and dryer are Westinghouse workhorses in your new kitchen. By buying a fully equipped new home, you can include all your appliances in the mortgage, thus leaving your cash available for the purchase of furniture and moving expenses.

This is a great opportunity, especially for young people just starting their home ownership.

New Brick Helping Cut Building Costs

Brick, the housing material local codes have been revised once considered beyond the to include brick walls. The Structural Clay Products muller, has boomed in popularity the past two years thanks to a new brick through the Stone, Inc. The new brick is made of one-half clay and one-half shale. It is stronger than the old brick and is made in a way that it can be used in a wide variety of applications. It is also more economical than the old brick because it is made in a way that it can be used in a wide variety of applications. ## Safety Tips For Homeowners

Some of the questions the Seattle Safety Council suggests that homeowners ask themselves are: Are broken stairways, loose floor boards, wobbly chairs promptly repaired? Is all electrical equipment in good repair? Is there a secure handhold or grab bar over each bathtub or shower? Are all gas burners properly adjusted, free from leaks and petcocks tight? The Sea of Galilee, in Palestine, is 14 miles long and 8 miles wide and is 680 feet below the level of the Mediterranean.

Comfortable Living for Growing Family in Eastgate Home

OPEN HOUSE: The new "Tri-View" home plan features comfortable living accommodations in Eastgate will be open today from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. Designed by John M. Anderson, architectural engineer, and constructed by Bell & Volder of Bellevue, the

3-Level Home

Attractive, Compact

DRIVING INSTRUCTIONS: From the intersection of the Lake Washington Floating Bridge, continue east on the Sunset Highway to 10th Southside. Turn right and follow the main road for one-half mile.

Eastgate's new "Tri-View" is a fine house of modest proportions offering comfortable living accommodations for the growing family. In an area of new homes it is outstanding because its one-level construction and efficient garden side give it an appearance of a ranch home. You will note there is not one inch of waste space. Economies SCR brick and large panes of clear glass to flood the interior and placement of utilities, baths are one above the other and John M. Anderson, architect, back up to the kitchen so there is a minimum of plumbing fixtures. The use of SCR brick together to give the exterior and the living area. The living room, dining and multipurpose room are unbroken for privacy from and kitchen are on one level, a desirable property.

Eastgate Home Furnished On Small Budget

Want to know how to furnish a home on a small budget? That is exactly what will be done at a home open in the new Eastgate home by Century Builders, Inc.

The house, located in Eastgate Community, is known as the "Centuryite." It has been furnished on a small budget, based on the income of an average young couple. Ruth McCloy, specialist in home furnishings, has searched for the best quality, low priced, painted furniture for upholstery and used furniture to show how attractive and livable a house can be made with a little money, and a little ingenuity. A printed list of the furniture prices and where the pieces were obtained will be given to visitors.

Land Bought For Eastgate Expansion

Developers of Eastgate, on Sunday by deepwater wells in the Sunset Hill way east of Seven miles of paved roads have been bought for $500,000. The land is to be used for a 150,000-gallon tank for water storage. A cleverly at the Sunset Hill community is planned, the rate of two each day. They are under construction by Bell & Volder, East Side building firm, and Century Builders.

Rules Spoiled Case Disposal

CLEFTON, N. J., Sept. 18.—Veteran policemen—and rookies, too—know just how to dispose of this case. But they couldn't touch it. Regulations. The case was 24 cans of chilled beer left by mistake on the doorstep of a housewife who didn't want it. Police took it to headquarters where it waited to be claimed. Water for the community is by its owner.

Class in Home Design Proves Popular Here

Persons interested in building or remodeling a house can learn about contemporary design, developing floor plans, and arranging by attending in an evening class offered by the University of Washington here beginning September 28.

Taught by Mrs. Malvina Holt, the course has been a success every quarter since its inception by the A.T. Department of Architecture in the School of Architecture. Mrs. Holt's distribution has greater interest in the new volume of building in the North End of Seattle, near the campus.

Through her evening class, Mrs. Holtberg has attempted to show Seattle homeowners what can be accomplished by a knowledge of interior design to family needs. Mrs. Holtberg maintains, "and one should know how to make use of the beautiful and functional materials and designers.

Each student in the 1½-week course will plan a moderately priced room with a floor plan, and working it out completely even to draperies if he chooses. Mrs. Holtberg says several of her former students have remodeled and built new homes based on the work they have done in class. Members of the class also will take a field trip to shops and accessories as follows:

Mrs. Holtberg came to Seattle from New York city, where she taught art at New York University. She has been an interior-design consultant in the East and for several homes in this area. An instructor in art at the University of Washington, she is also a member of the National Art Education program in Edmonds.

Registration for Elementary Interior Design will begin September 20 in Room 1385 Student Union Building on the campus. The class will meet from 7 to 10:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Kitchen Appliances That 'Think' Simplify Homemaker's Task

Engineers stretch their imaginations to the breaking point as they think up new gadgetry to make household equipment more desirable. Naturally the mechanism of the range or refrigerator continually is improved until the place has been reached where owners turn themselves on or off while everyone is at the office slaving to pay for them. Refrigerators will up a gallon of ice cream all by themselves and the refrigerator trays toss ice cubes into that tall, cool drink. Men, bless their hearts see all this efficiency and wonder what in the world the little woman does to earn her keep. Privately, they think of a man who can't cook as a man who can't think how it tastes.

A frozen dinner, complete with turkey, dressing, potatoes and vegetables is in the freezer. You don't have to remove the paper from around it. Packing the paper into the oven is all that's needed. But don't forget to preheat the oven. The whole thing is so simple that even a child could do it. The average American cook.

Ever longed to lounge in suburban serenity? Even wished to wallow in country contentment? On beautiful Mercer Island, in a setting of native trees, ELMER V. MOSS has fashioned a home that is right out of your dreams. The first of 65 homes, it is located in the new Mercerwood Shore Club — just two minutes from the Mercer Island shopping center, fifteen minutes from downtown Seattle, yet a million miles from nowhere. Leave noise and tension in the city and come home to a place where no worries are allowed and even ulcers are happy. The home is all—and more—that Seattle has come to expect from ELMER V. MOSS—quality, convenience, and striking beauty. A long, low rambler, with three bedrooms, large living room, dining room, family room, patio, and two-car garage, this home is designed for the casual kick-off-your-shoes kind of living Northwesterners love. Yet it wears the formal dress of gracious entertaining with a flair that will please even the sharp appraising eyes of a woman's bridge club meeting. And the kitchen? Suffice to say that it's a Moss kitchen—1955 version — super-efficient, super-beautiful, and just plain super. This home is open to the public now—so follow your dream to Mercerwood Shore Club and see it come alive.
